

To Whom It May Concern

The team at Smart Communication is very special to me. I like their creative talent, attention to details and above all, they are so reliable! In an industry that is infamous for missing deadlines, Smartcom has always delivered, even after we make last minute, and sometimes quite unreasonable requests for revision.

They have also provided at cost services for two cafes that are run as a social enterprise to provide employment and training for young people with mental handicap. The upbeat design is so matching to the mission of the two cafes, and certainly helps to attract customers, and to promote the core message of providing an opportunity so people of all abilities can lead a fulfilling and dignified life.

Smart Communication is a firm which makes a difference.
